Commentary

Hermès was the best performer this month up +18.1%. The company reported strong Q4 results ahead of market estimates on both revenue and profit, with strong growth and resilience shown across all geographies and categories. Novozymes was second best, up +9.7%. The company reported good Q4 results, in line with market expectations. The stock was bolstered by the completion of the merger of Novozymes and Chr. Hansen, which fuelled positive market sentiment. Edenred was the worst performer, down -17.4%. Despite reporting strong 2023 results with 24% organic growth and margin expansion, the stock fell on the news that Italian authorities had launched an investigation into alleged fraudulent activities. Dassault Systèmes was second worst, down -10.5%. The company reported soft Q4 results with new licenses growth below expectations and gave underwhelming guidance for both Medidata and new licenses growth for FY24.
